

The Story of Lydia

In today's world it seems that many people have lost hope in mankind. What once seemed to be an opinion shared by adults has now filtered down to our youth, and even more unsettling, to our children and at an alarming pace. The world has echoed its cry for help, yet very few have listened. The environment, the economy, wars, poverty, etc., are all major concerns that could quite possibly be impacted if people had better values and faith.

The Story of Lydia is intended to help children develop stronger values at an early age and help others rediscover what is truly important in life. We encourage you to log on to our website at <http://www.thestoryoflydia.com> and take a glimpse at what we are trying to accomplish – to restore the hope and faith in the most important demographic on the planet – the children.

We are certain that you will be inspired by Lydia's message of caring and sharing.
